

Enough and too /
Too many / Too much / A lot off

adjective + enough + infinitive

Examples:

- ✓ I'm old enough to drink alcohol.
- ✓ You're old enough to drive.
- ✓ He's smart enough to go to university.
- ✓ She's tall enough to reach the top shelf.
- ✓ We're happy enough to help you.
- ✓ They're rich enough to buy a new house.

Form:

enough + noun + infinitive

Examples:

- ✓ I've got enough money to buy that book I want.
- ✓ You've got enough time to visit me on Tuesday.
- ✓ He's got enough stamina to run a marathon.
- ✓ She got enough sleep to feel fresh in the morning.
- ✓ We had enough time to see all monuments in the city.
- ✓ They will have enough time to visit their parents this weekend.

We also use 'enough' in negative sentences and questions:

- ✓ I haven't got enough time to call you tonight.
- ✓ Have you got enough time to call me tomorrow morning?
- ✓ Did you have enough money to buy lunch?
- ✓ I didn't have enough money to buy the phone I wanted.
- ✓ Has he got enough stamina to run a marathon?
- ✓ He isn't tall enough to reach the doorbell.
- ✓ She isn't old enough to drive.
- ✓ Is she smart enough to study law?
- ✓ Are we fast enough to run away?
- ✓ We aren't old enough to drink beer.
- ✓ Have they got enough money to go on holiday?
- ✓ They didn't have enough time to finish the test.

Too much/ too many – more than enough (usually negative meaning)

We use 'too much' with uncountable nouns.

We use 'too many' with countable nouns.

Examples:

- ✓ There are too many people on the bus today.
- ✓ There were too many emails to answer.
- ✓ There is too much noise in the pub tonight.
- ✓ There is too much snow on the road.
- ✓ I have got too much to do this weekend so I can't go out.
- ✓ You had too many drinks last night.
- ✓ He had too many car accidents.
- ✓ She will have too many shoes one day.
- ✓ We have got too many dogs.
- ✓ They are too busy to write the report.

We can use 'too much/too many' in negative sentences and questions but it is not very common.